

Message I hope that all people special enough friends regardless of your political beliefs or any you might have to see what's going on with this election, and not only that assume that some of these allegations out of the hundreds of affidavit signed by poll workers private citizens and some politicians about rampant fraudulent mail-in voting, backdating votes, not verifying signatures, allowing votes of known deceased people to make it into the election... I could go on and on but I'm not going to waste my time. What I'm trying to say is how would a Democrat tell if this was on them? Well we already know that because it happened four years ago. Myself, I don't consider myself republican or democrat or really anything maybe a constitutionalist but I believe that we as a country have to come together when it comes to our elections to make sure that we don't have fraud that dictates who doesn't doesn't run our country. I can understand if you don't like Trump that's fine that's not even part of this, I want to see our country tell to a higher example, the entire world looks to America for leadership because we are a world power and right now we've got people out there trying to steal elections from duly elected presidents and I for one can't just sit idly by and watch it happen. I don't know about the rest of you guys but I've got kids that are going to be living in in this country for a lot longer than I'll be here and I can only hope and pray that's some of what our America was it still there then Miguel and by the way things are going today nothing's going to be the same. Is that really what you want your kids or grandkids to grow up and socialism? Do you not want them to have the same opportunities and rights as you grew up having. Do you not teach them the same respect that you were taught to show? Every value that we grew up with is getting thrown out of the window and people are sitting there on their asses watching it happen as usual and that really Burns me up... and that's all I have to say about that
